Completing the Extended Experimental Investigation

Over the course of three weeks, students will engage in four activities which contribute to the generation of their evidence of learning and achievement in the EEI

- A. Questioning and predicting
- B. Planning and conducting
- C. Processing and analysing
- D. Reflecting and reporting

It is not intended to present the activities as a rigid and linear process. Each activity may be revisited at different times as students complete the investigation.

A. Questioning and Predicting

For this part of the investigation students may work individually or in small groups. Each student must contribute to the work of the group.

- Choose the topic
- Decide the research question
- Collect information on the background theory related to the research question
- Refine the question to help with the justification of their hypothesis/prediction
- Record the sources of information
- Write the hypothesis/prediction

B. Planning and Conducting

For this part of the investigation students may work individually or in groups. Each student must contribute to the collection of data.

- Hands-on experience in the laboratory to plan and refine experimental design
- Decide what equipment and materials will be necessary
- Assess any possible risks
- Write individual Investigation Plans
- Submit individually for investigation approval
- Conduct the investigation
- Record all data as well as problems and changes to method used during any preliminary trials and during final experiments
